

Install the Mumble Client first. After installation, the wizard starts automatically. In one of the steps, set the sound capture mode. It can be automatic - adjust it with the slider below, or you can set Push To Talk. We suggest you choose Push To Talk and define a keyboard shortcut.

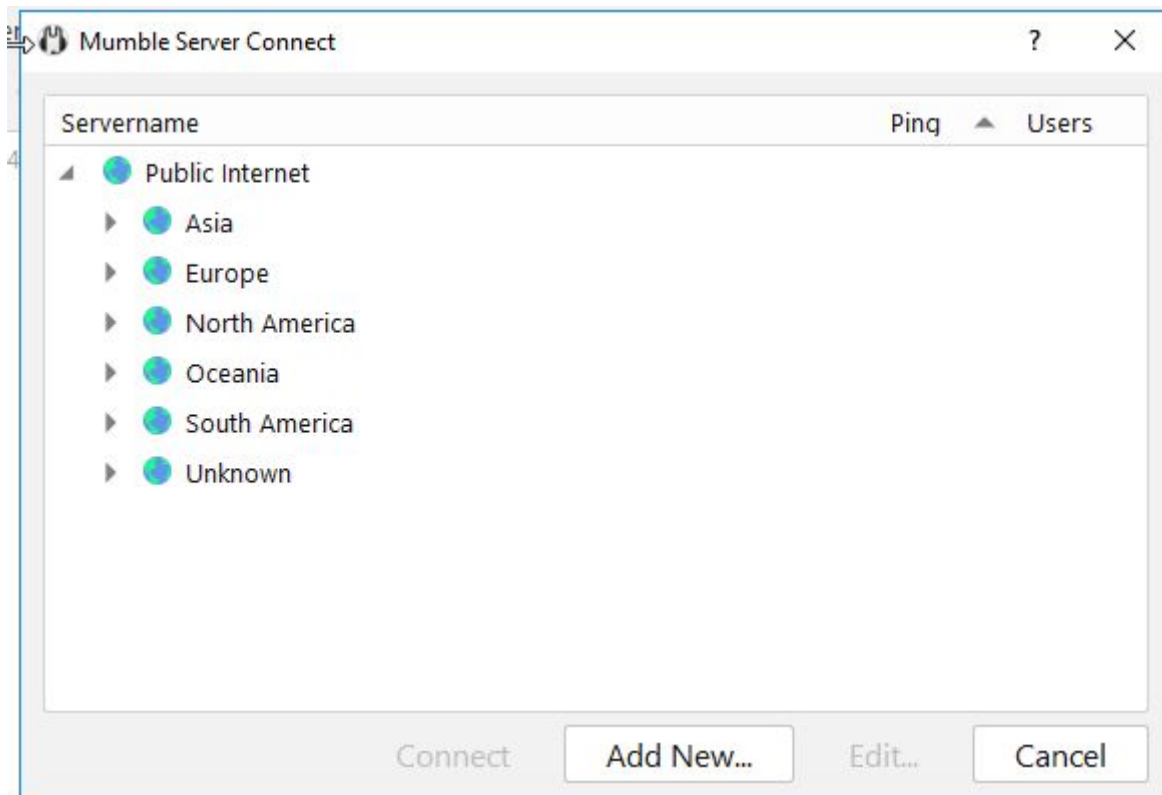

In the next step, set the sound quality (we suggest balanced), and below you have the notification setting - Text To Speech means that every time someone comes to the channel or if there are any other notifications on the server, it converts this text into speech. This can be very distracting during the race, so we advise you to disable it.

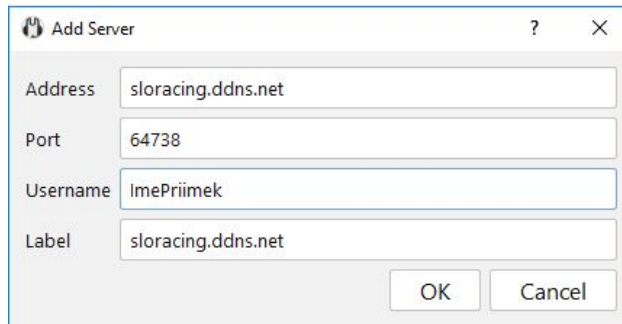

When asked for a certificate, simply leave Automatic and click Next.

The first time you start Mumble, it shows you a list of servers that are added by default, grouped by continent. Click on Add New ...

Enter the server address sloracing.ddns.net, leave the port default 64738, enter your name and surname (obligatory in the format FirstnameLastname - no spaces, no hyphens and other special characters). Label is just the tag of this server for your reference (if you have more servers so you can differentiate between them).
